The nostalgia piece comes in the form of guilloche decoration, vintage finishes, and classic aesthetic details. The hightech half takes the form of a Quartz ETA G10.211 movement, a stainless steel case with PVD coating, and scratchresistant sapphire crystal. The large, open dial comes in a distinguished green shade that will make you want to go hunting or racing immediately. Contrasting features in gold and white provide functionality in the form of glowing hands and hour markers, date display, and an unusualforananalogue alarm. The final piece of the smartcasual puzzle is a brown crocodilepatterned leather strap. As automatic watches became increasingly expensive, Breytenbach became determined to build an automatic watch that offered both unique design and sufficient functionality for an affordable price. The BB7760 has it all, from a Ronda 5020B Swiss Quartz movement, to a stainless steel case and bezel, to a leather crocodile strap, to an eye-catching black and white face and a surprisingly low price tag. Together, they're the driving force behind a watch brand that champions bold but timeless designs. The Regattare Chronograph achieves the eternally cool look with a chocolate brown leather strap, Superluminova C3 details, double domed sapphire crystal, stainless steel case, and a Seagull TY2901 ST1901 handwind chronograph based on the vintage Venus 175. With the 98B103 Marine Star Calendar watch, the New Yorkbased watchmaker brings the drama without the bankruptcy. Bulova's affordable watch combines a Japanesequartz movement with a mineral crystal, square stainless steel case, black dial with a grid design, and a tough-looking black leather strap with distinctive perforations. If you ever doubted that Lacoste has anything going for it other than polo shirts, doubt no more. The Lacoste Black Leather Strap Watch is simple, sleek, and stylish, and will hardly put a dent in your bank account.

The CA033156L gives the EcoDrive movement a handsome, effortlessly sharp exterior with classic styling and a slightly sporty edge. The company is out to bring attitude, individuality and creativity to the traditional world of watches and accessories. The Sekonda lineup is built on a foundation of high-quality movements and materials, then amped up with playful pops of colour and bold sports watches with oversized dials. The Sekonda Chronograph is all of that rolled into one, at a surprisingly cheap price. Daniel Wellington Classic York Daniel Wellington is clear in its mission provide watches for the preppy market. The Quartz Japan citizen 1L22 movement driven Classic York comes with a dark brown crocodile strap as a chic counterpart to its rose gold body, rather than one of the brand's famous Nato straps, but it's interchangeable if you prefer to stick with tradition. We have been in the watch business for over 20 years and during that time we have never sold a phony or counterfeit. We guarantee all brands to be absolutely authentic. Are your descriptions accurate. How can I trust your description We examine each watch carefully and make every effort to describe it accurately. Occasionally, but rarely, we miss something. No matter. Our policy is that you can return the watch for a FULL REFUND, FOR ANY REASON, OR NO REASON. When you buy from us, you buy with confidence. Are all your watches working Absolutely! Our staff technicians make sure of that. If it is a battery operated quartz watch, it has a new, famous maker battery installed before we ship it to you. A new battery can last easily 35 years. If it is a solar, Eco Drive, Kinetic, or automatic watch, we have inspected it carefully to make sure it is running accurately when shipped. Does the watch come in the original box No, we are selling you a watch only. No box. If you want it in the original box, then you are better off buying from a regular retailer at a higher price. After all, you wear the watch, not the box. There is no difference in the watch. Where do your watches come from Our new watches come direct from retail showcases, mostly from our own stores.

Many are display models, and some were worn by our store employees and executives. Not unlike buying a demonstrator car from a dealer. You get a better deal when a new car has 2 or 3 thousand miles on it and was used for test drives. Same thing with our watches. You won't find a better deal anywhere. And, by putting them all up for auction starting at 99 cents, you, the customer determine what each one is worth. In the end, it is not unusual to get massive savings of 60-80% off retail. Our pre-owned watches are mostly trade-ins from customers purchasing a new watch. Some are those from folks who walked in and wanted to sell their watch. We are very selective. In any event, our technicians insure that each watch is working properly before shipment. Do you include a Warranty or Guaranty of any kind YES. WITH EVERY WATCH WE SELL. Each watch movement is warranted for One Year from the day you receive it. If it stops running, or does not run accurately, just send it back and our technicians will repair it and return it to you at no charge. It was succeeded by the Precisionist timepiece. For decades, this American manufacturer has prided themselves on impressively precise watches. Their most famous watch is without a doubt the Accutron, a predecessor to the quartz watch, which experienced the height of its popularity in the 1960s. Today, Bulova offers the Accutron II. It has a retro design inspired by the original model, but is powered by modern technology. You can recognize an Accutron II by its crown, which is unusually placed at four o'clock. It only deviates 10 seconds a year, which is amazing for a quartz watch, as these watches are not synchronized to a time signal. However, Bulova also produces watches with designs that are front and center. One series is dedicated to the architect Frank Lloyd Wright 1867-1959; the watches in it are inspired by Wright's work. The Diamond series is comprised of diamond-set women's watches. The logo of the motorcycle company is printed on the dial of this rustic collection comprised of over 40 models. The short end of the seconds hand on these models ends in a small H and D. It honors the use of Bulova watches during Moon missions. Its design resembles the original model that was part of the Apollo 15 mission and spent some time on the Moon. Its waterproof to 100 m 10 bar.

The bezel is secured to the case via six visible inbus screws, creating the porthole design that was first popularized by Audemars Piguet's Royal Oak and is often used by Hublot. Its 43mm or 44mm case fits seamlessly on the curve of your wrist and its movement was also appropriately modified. According to the manufacturer, the timepiece is the first chronograph with a curved movement. The subdials on the sporty Curv are arranged in a Tricompax layout. Watches with a skeletonized dial, which give you a view of the movement, are a part of their classic automatic series. An Accutron from the 1960s is considered to be one of the most unusual watches in the world. Technology enthusiasts, as well as watch lovers, flock to these watches. A real Accutron from this time period in very good condition costs around 1,600 euros. The modern retro variant Accutron II is significantly more affordable at only 250 euros. Their condition and materials will greatly influence the price. A chronograph with an 18-karat yellow gold case and automatic movement only costs 1,300 euros. Fans of vintage diving watches will also get their money's worth. The chronographs in this series have a diameter of 48.3 mm and a thickness of 17 mm; with those dimensions, they make good companions for larger wrists. They're also waterproof to 300 m 30 bar, making them perfect diving watches. New chronographs cost around 900 euros. However, simple three-hand watches with a diameter of 43 mm are also part of the Precisionist collection. These timepieces are waterproof as well, but only to 100 m 10 bar. The Special Edition Moon Watch Chronograph has a diameter of 42 mm and its case is waterproof to 50 m 5 bar. You should prepare to spend around 500 euros on this timepiece. The timepiece is also known as a tuning fork watch and paved the way for the modern quartz watch. When the Accutron was introduced to the market in 1960, it was a sensation. Instead of a balance wheel, it used an electric-powered tuning fork.

While most mechanical watches beat at a frequency of 3 or 4 Hz, the Accutron beat at 360 Hz. The timepiece shares important features of the quartz wristwatch that was to come both systems use a battery as an energy source and vibrate at a much higher speed than a regular timepiece. The higher frequency results in a deviation of only one minute a month. The model series declined in popularity in the 1970s as cheap quartz watches from the East with a frequency of 32,768 Hz became more mainstream. In 2010, they presented their Precisionist series at the world's most important watch trade show, Baselworld. It oscillated at a frequency of 262,144 Hz, eight times faster than typical quartz watches. The deviation of 10 seconds a year can only be beat by radio and GPS watches. Over the years, Bulova has added 262 kHz technology to many of their series. One mark of this technology is a smoothsweep seconds; quartz watches usually feature jumping seconds, which move in one-second increments. Joseph Bulova 1851 1936 founded the company in 1875 in New York, where the headquarters are still located. Since 2008, Bulova has belonged to the Japanese Citizen Group. Learn more. Reddit!
